Dear South Carolina Public Service Commission,

I strongly object to Duke Energy putting a new substation in Campobello as well as putting large transmission lines through Greenville, Spartanburg or Polk counties.

As a life long resident of South Carolina, it is time to protect, rather than destroy the beauty around us. My father was a peach farmer, and I'm now part owner of Caroland Farms, a 900 acre cattle and crop farm. We currently own property in Greenville, Spartanburg and Polk counties.

Wiser people than I have donated property to conservation easements in our area to preserve green spaces for the common good. And now Duke Energy may possibly use these clear areas to take energy into Western NC? This is appalling. You must say no to allowing this beautiful area to be trashed for the sake of power in the Asheville area.

S. C. PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION
RECEIVED
AUG 27 2015
RECEIVED

One possible solution is to use gas turbines closer to the Asheville area. As demand increases for more power there, add another gas turbine.

My prayer for you all on this Public Service Commission is below:

Dear God,
Give this Commission clear heads, kind hearts, and pure thoughts to be good stewards of your beautiful world here in South Carolina. It's not ours anyway... it's just on loan for our lifetime. Help each member of this important group to seek your will in all decisions. You created this beauty. Help us all, Father, to maintain it.

Amen

Thank you all for your service.

Sincerely,
Cornelia Alexander

Campobello, SC
29322

Aug. 15, 2015