I understand that as a monopoly, SCE&G is guaranteed an agreed upon and specific rate of return, but before automatically granting them yet another rate hike, make them first reduce their controllable expenses like every other business is being forced to do. I believe they should have to forgo pay increases, bonuses and other non-essential expenses before any rate increase is allowed. The publication and distribution of their glitzy and very expensive Insight magazine is just one example of their extravagance! It irks me every time I see it! An independent management audit of policies and procedures as well as a financial audit is sorely needed. Please require these audits be performed before automatically granting them their rate hike! Also, since interest rates have “tanked”, why not consider reducing their guaranteed rate of return? Everyone else getting less! Thank you the consideration of my input.

Respectfully requested,
Al
